PROFILE

A dedicated professional who has spent two years gaining valuable skills in the tech space. I have a great passion for front-end design and development, which drove me to take advantage of several learning resources and begin my transition into tech when the Covid pandemic struck in 2020. I'm teachable, adaptable, and highly empathetic towards product users and their needs, and I love to create thoughtful, beautiful, and simple things that make lives easier. I'm a lifetime learner and remain committed to achieving mutual growth wherever I find myself.
